What's the danger?

- Poison centers answer more than 4 million calls each year. That's one call every eight seconds. According to the American Association of Poison Centers; children younger than 6 years old account for about half of the calls placed to poison centers. The center reported over 150,000 calls made about exposure to common household pesticides. These figures show the need for everyone to lock up pesticides and household chemicals out of children's reach-preferably in a high cabinet.
- Never leave household chemicals unattended when you are using them.
- Use child-resistant packaging by closing the container tightly after use.

What chemical-containing products are in your home? Common products that could seriously harm a child if ingested include:

- Bath and kitchen disinfectants and sanitizers, including bleach;
- · Drain cleaner, paints, or glue;
- Roach sprays and baits;
- Insect repellents;
- · Weed killers;
- Products used to kill mold or mildew;
- Before using these products read the product label first and follow the directions to the letter.

If someone has swallowed or inhaled a pesticide or gotten pesticide in the eye or on the skin:

- Call 911 if the person is unconscious, having trouble breathing, or having convulsions.
- Check the label for directions on how to give first aid.
- ◆ Call the Poison Control Center at 1-800-222-1222 for help with first aid.

Should you have any questions or concerns, contact Safety & Security at 928-2660.

HEALTHY EATING TIPS

Parents can help their children avoid obesity and develop healthy habits for a lifetime by following these guidelines.

Be a good role model.

This is the most important tip for parents because studies have shown that children learn their eating habits from their parents.

Choose drinks wisely.

Water is best. Use 1% or skim milk. Discourage sweetened drinks such as soda, sports drinks made from powdered mixes. These are mostly sugar. Limit 100% fruit juice to 6-8 oz. a day.

Offer only healthy snacks.

Encourage healthy snacks such as fruits and vegetables. Discourage chips, cookies, and candy. These are empty calories with little or no nutritional value. Junk foods should be limited to special occasions, don't keep them in the house routinely.

Don't allow eating in front of the TV.

Make the TV area a no-food zone. It's easy to overeat while watching TV because we mindlessly put food into our mouth without paying attention to the cues our body gives to know we are full.

Limit eating out.

On average, restaurant food has 55% more fat and calories than food prepared from scratch at home. Fast foods also tend to be higher in salt. If you opt for fast food, avoid the 'super-sizes". Select foods that are grilled, baked or broiled

- 6. Floods and Sewer Problems;

Cold Weather Precautions Take Preventive Action

Water has a unique property in that is expands as it freezes. This expansion puts tremendous pressure on whatever is containing it, including metal or plastic pipes. No matter the "strength" of a container, expanding water can cause pipes to break.

Being prepared and informed may help you to avoid the messy issue of frozen pipes:

- Open kitchen and bathroom cabinet doors to allow warmer air to circulate around the plumbing. Be sure to move any harmful cleaners and household chemicals up out of the reach of children;
- When weather is very cold outside, let the cold water drip from the faucet served by exposed pipes. Running water through the pipe—even at a trickle—helps prevents pipes from freezing;
- If you will be going away during cold weather, leave the heat on in your home, set to a temperature no lower than 55°F.
